Message from Founders

Where Heritage Meets Innovation

Our journey in the instruments industry began in 1995 when our father founded Nelson Luc Surgical Co., specializing in surgical instruments. Their dedication to quality, craftsmanship, and reliability laid the foundation for what we proudly carry forward today.

Building on this strong heritage, we, the next generation, established Nelson International Commodities (NICVET) in 2018. With a clear vision, we expanded into Veterinary & Livestock Instruments and Equine Product, aiming to serve clients across the globe with precision and trust.

We believe in listening to our clients, adapting to their needs, and delivering solutions that perform in real working conditions. Every tool we manufacture is crafted with care, reflecting our philosophy of reliability, innovation, and customer satisfaction.

By choosing Nelson International Commodities, you are partnering with a company built on decades of experience and a strong family legacy. We remain committed to providing OEM manufacturing, customization, and private labeling solutions that meet the evolving needs of around the world.

Our Specialization & Services

1. OEM Manufacturing
2. Private Labeling
3. Customization
4. New Development

OEM Manufacturing

With OEM (Original Equipment Manufacturing) solutions from our company, you are right from the start – it is the basis for a trusting relationship and long-term customer loyalty.

With excellent OEM assortments, we help you convince your customers at first sight and build confidence for lasting cooperation. Every stage of our production is carried out with strict attention to detail, and the final inspection of each product ensures consistency and precision.

Our focus is to provide you with the best quality instruments and maximum transparency. We work closely with you to design and develop OEM ranges that meet your exact needs.

We also welcome your ideas and special requirements for customized OEM manufacturing, ensuring that we create practical solutions that serve your customers effectively.

Through OEM manufacturing, we not only produce instruments – we create long-term value that strengthens your brand identity in the global market.

Standard Instruments

Only with high-quality instruments can you satisfy your customers. The daily use of reliable and durable instruments quickly reveals the strength of the product and helps to build long-term trust.

Your customers deserve the best craftsmanship for everyday use. With our standard instruments, you can be confident that they meet professional requirements and deliver consistent performance. Whether for single or multiple use, our products are designed to ensure precision, durability, and customer satisfaction.

Customized products

We understand that every customer may have unique requirements. That's why we offer customized solutions to meet your individual needs – whether it's design modifications, special adjustments, or unique product developments.

Our entire range of instruments, whether OEM or standard, can be tailored according to your specifications. With the support of our skilled specialists and our flexible manufacturing, we provide solutions that match your exact expectations.

We are committed to producing custom-made instruments of the highest quality – ensuring that nothing stands in the way of your success.

Our Commitment to Quality

How We Ensure Reliability in Every Product

At Nelson International Commodities, quality is not just a process – it is our promise. From careful material selection to strict attention during production, every step is designed to deliver reliability, durability, and customer satisfaction. Our goal is simple: to provide instruments that professionals can trust, every single time.”

Trusted Materials

We source only reliable and durable raw materials, ensuring strength and consistency in every product.

Skilled Craftsmanship

Each tool is manufactured with precision and attention to detail, reflecting our focus on quality and usability.

Customer Focus

We listen to our clients and value their feedback, using it to continuously improve and adapt our products.

Transparency & Trust

We believe in open communication, honest partnerships, and long-term reliability with every customer worldwide.
